WHEN you come to think over it, you can easily understand why so many prominent advertisers place their advertisements in The Honolulu Republican. They get proper display, proper rates and proper treatment—consequently they stick to us. We can take similar care of new patrons.

TO MAINLAND EXCHANGES.

Some of our mainland exchanges are still affixing stamps to their papers. This is not necessary, since these islands have been admitted into the union. Exchanges now come here by the weight, just the same as in the case in the states.

The only law that is objectionable in the United States is mob law, of which there is altogether too much, both north and south.

The Washington Post suggests that the Hon. "Cyclone" Davis and the Hon. Webster Davis might be driven tandem through the oratorical part of the campaign.

There is a good deal of truth as well as cynicism in the statement that men who think that money will do everything may be suspected of doing anything for money.

The Associated Sheriffs of California, recently in session in San Francisco, resolved in favor of a law making the stealing of bicycles grand larceny. This is a suggestion that might be adopted with benefit in Hawaii.

The Chinese reformers are wasting their opportunity. They are evidently procrastinators and the golden moment has passed for them. Is it possible that the Mongolian reformers have been talking through their fingers?

It was a rational way in which last Sunday was observed in Honolulu. Restaurants, soda fountains, bakeries and cigar stores were allowed to do business. No one was shocked and no one found that the Lord's day had been desecrated.

A carrier pigeon which started to carry a message from Denver, Colo., to Homestead, Pa., dropped dead at Allendale, Pa. The clever little flier was game to the last, but there is a limit to all things. May not this explain why Andrew's flying pigeons did not reach home?

The queer freaks of "Jersey lightning" are proverbial along the Atlantic seaboard, but the latest is to the effect that during a storm in New Jersey the other day a ball of fire from the sky hit a fat councilman of Bloomfield and knocked him senseless. What seems to worry his constituents is that the freak streak did not kill. Inhuman people, those Jerseyites.

The following from the Iowa State Register will find an echo in every true American's heart: "There should be a law in the United States, such as Switzerland now has, absolutely forbidding any citizen to accept a foreign decoration. That would put an end to the humiliating efforts of commissioners, such as those now serving in Paris, to obtain for themselves decorations from the French government. They sought the places they now hold, and consider themselves well paid, and they ought not to be permitted to ask for or accept decorations from any foreign government."

For the first time in the history of the United States an opportunity has been given to contrast our troops with those of the great powers of the world, and the opportunity is being improved by the war department. It has already been learned that in clothing and equipment for campaigning in warm climates we are way behind the powers, but Admiral Seymour has given the American troops praise as fighters and superior to all the nations in alertness, mobility and the faculty of "getting there." Now a Japanese correspondent with the allied forces has sent the following to his paper, giving his experience and observation after the battle of Tientsin: "The American ambulance corps has done some excellent work. Their stretchers are the best in the field and show the wonderful inventive faculty of the Americans. The handles of these stretchers are so arranged that they can be formed at once into supports by a clever mechanical contrivance so that the stretchers can be used as beds or benches for surgical operations. The advantages of this system cannot be too much commended, for on ground so swampy and hot as the soil of China the wounded men cannot safely lie long pending the treatment on the spot, and this inconvenience is removed by the American invention. Sixty men were thus treated directly where they fell, who otherwise would have died. The Japanese medical staff refer to the fact in most praiseworthy terms."

REPUBLICANS GET TO WORK.

If the republicans of Hawaii hope to carry the coming election they must get to work with much more earnestness than they have hitherto shown. To pose as an alarmist it feels it a duty to arouse the rank and file of the party to the importance of the work. Work, work is the key to success in carrying elections. Of course the work must be properly directed to be effective. As yet no headquarters have been established by the republicans, no poll has been made unless it be in a desultory way in a few of the precincts.

To carry the coming election requires united, intelligent and vigorous work from now on to the day of election. It cannot be postponed any longer. From now on to the day of election. It cannot be postponed any longer. The party must get right down to work at once and to the hardest kind of work. For over two months the independents have been at work over the Territory. The result is that they have a perfect machine most thoroughly organized. They have a record of every man registered in the Territory and have a poll of every man to show how he will vote. Beside this they are making a poll and canvas of every voter in each and every voting precinct in the Territory. This work is being carefully done by intelligent men who are acquainted with every voter in their respective precincts and the leaders of the independent party say they have good reason to be confident of carrying the election in November.

The Republican still believes that the republicans can carry Hawaii in November if they will only work. But this is no time for delay or for shrinking from the duty that confronts the party. Every effort must be put forth from now until the close of the polls on November 6th in order to win, and if this is done the republicans will win.

Number XXVIII of the pamphlets from the military information division of the adjutant general's office is devoted to a description of the island of Guam, being a report made to the president by Gen. Joseph Wheeler, who visited that place on his return from Manila. The book is copiously illustrated and is full of statistics and comments on the country and people. An interesting feature of the report is the reproduction of Governor Leary's orders to the inhabitants. A map is added to the publication, and it is a most valuable contribution to the literature of the country's new island possessions.

Whatever differences may have existed in the past between various factions of the republican party of Hawaii, all must work together now if they hope to do good for the Territory. Hawaii cannot afford to send to Washington as the delegate to congress a man who is not allied with either of the national political parties and who would go there antagonistic to the national administration. Republican harmony accompanied by earnest work will prevent such an occurrence.

Section 66 of the Organic Act of the Territory of Hawaii, in providing for a governor and prescribing his duties, says: "He may grant pardons or reprieves for offenses against the laws of the said Territory and reprieves for offenses against the laws of the United States until the decision of the president is made known thereon." Surely this states the power to grant pardons or reprieves plainly enough.

In order that all readers of the English language may be sure to read their platform, the independent home rule party has made arrangements to advertise the platform in The Republican. This may serve as a pointer to some business men as to the value of The Republican as an advertising medium.

MISSIONARY HYMN.

From the Heathen Standpoint.
From Greenland's icy mountains,
From India's coral strands,
Where Africa's sunny fountains
Roll down their golden sands;
From many an ancient river,
From many a palmy plain,
They call us to deliver
Their land from Error's chain."

So sing the missionaries,
A sweet ecstatic band,
Far from the danger limit
Of China's flowery strand,
Regardless of their peoples,
"On many a palmy plain,
Who are entirely satisfied
With fearful 'Error's chain.'"
From Tientsin's muddy ramparts to
The Yellow River's flow,
The Boxers are out gunning for
Their evangelic foe.
And iron-clad fleets from every port
Are sailing over the main
To mix in this 'delivering
The land from Error's chain.'"

And late events are telling,
In no uncertain tone,
That even the sightless heathen has
Convictions of his own;
And on his native river,
And on his native plain,
He's seeking to deliver
"We pray you, good 'gentlemen,"
Intone your hymns at home,
Nor stray abroad where savages
"Bow down to wood and stone."
Or, if you must the heathen save,
First his consent obtain
Before you start to operate
Against vile "Error's chain."

From Greenland's icy mountains,
From India's coral strands,
Where Africa's sunny fountains
Roll down their golden sands;
From Yellow River's shallows
And Tientsin's muddy wall,
They do not want deliverance
From "Error's chain" at all!
—W. A. Irwin in San Francisco Examiner.

Libraries in Honolulu.

(From the New York Evening Post.)
Honolulu is quite generously equipped with libraries. It has a free library managed after New England methods, and well patronized. It occupies a commodious brick building owned by the library association and situated on a street corner near the center of the city. It is free to strangers as well as to residents, although mainly supported by the contributions of English-speaking citizens. The shelves are accessible to all visitors and the collection of books is creditable to the management. In a room of the same building the Hawaiian Historical Society has its collections, which include a small but valuable library. This society, with very restricted means, publishes reports and occasional papers of much local value. Another library, free to the public, but of inferior merit, is that of the Young Men's Christian Association. There is also a collection of books relating to the Hawaiian Islands owned by the Bishop Museum, an institution devoted to local antiquities and natural history. Connected with the supreme court is a law library of very reputable quality and size, and in each of the schools of the highest grades and in Oahu College there are small reference libraries.

Whalers Recall Islands.

A letter to the New York Evening Post from Nantucket has the following paragraph of local interest: "In walking about the town one wonders why important institutions such as the Pacific Bank or the Pacific Club were not rather named for the Islands' only neighbor—the Atlantic. Probably the explanation is that in the days of Nantucket's greatness as a whaling town it was to the Pacific that all its thoughts were turned; there were the great whaling grounds of the world, and to that Eldorado sailed all the men and boys of the place, and thither on their cruises of three and sometimes five years they were followed by the thoughts of the women. The Pacific Club (or the Captains' Club, as it is called) is a relic of those days when the sine qua non of membership was to command a whaler. Now there are a few wrinkled and grizzled captains who gather around the stove of an evening or shuffle in and out over the sanded floor between chores of a morning. These few 'last leaves' are delightful hosts, for they welcome you warmly to their club room and they have a wonderfully stirring and romantic past to draw upon for your entertainment. The company of these old fellows, who saw California long before the forty-niners, and who were old habitués of the South Sea Islands years before the missionaries set foot there, is delightful."

Honolulu's Telephone Service.

(From the Evening Star.)
The telephone service shows not the slightest improvement; wrong connections are constantly made and people called to the instrument only to find "It's a mistake." As for the country telephones they are a mere delusion and a snare. At times one can hear a blur and a full voice and then silence. It takes about an hour to get a message through to town. The end of this system of mismanagement and inattention must not be far off, for the community is getting pretty well worked up over the subject.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY
A GREAT FAVORITE.

The soothing and healing properties of this remedy, its pleasant taste and prompt and permanent cures have made it a great favorite with people everywhere. It is especially prized by mothers of small children for colds, croup and whooping cough, as it always affords quick relief, and as it contains no opium or other harmful drugs, it may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by all dealers and druggists. Benson, Smith & Co., general agents Territory of Hawaii.
